IS THIS WORKBOOK FOR YOU?

You keep reacting the same way — even when you don't want to.

Old patterns feel impossible to break. Your nervous system is running on autopilot from the past.

Relationships feel unsafe, confusing, or exhausting.

You crave closeness but fear it. You push people away or hold on too tight — never quite finding steady ground.

Your emotions feel too big — or completely shut down.

You swing between overwhelm and numbness. Neither feels like 'you,' but you don't know how to find the middle.

You feel stuck — even when life looks 'fine' on the outside.

There's a gap between how things look and how they feel. Something underneath hasn't healed yet.

Trauma lives in your body, not just your memories.

A sound, a look, a smell — and suddenly you're back there. Your nervous system hasn't gotten the message that it's over.

You want to grow — but you don't know where to start.

You've tried willpower. You've tried positive thinking. You're ready for something that actually reaches the root.

"Your nervous system is not broken. It is doing exactly what it was trained to do."

DBT DISTRESS TOLERANCE SKILLS

Crisis survival and emotional regulation

TIPP

T	Temperature — Cold water on face or hands activates the dive reflex, rapidly lowering heart rate.
I	Intense Exercise — Burns off activation hormones and discharges the nervous system.
P	Paced Breathing — Slow your exhale to twice the length of your inhale to activate the vagus nerve.
P	Paired Muscle Relaxation — Tense and release muscle groups to discharge held tension.

STOP

S	Stop — Do not act on urges. Pause completely.
T	Take a Step Back — Breathe. Create space between feeling and action.
O	Observe — Notice what is happening inside and around you without judgment.
P	Proceed Mindfully — Ask: What action is consistent with my values?
